Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☐ Responsive to communication(s) filed on ____.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

1. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipate by Kanaya et al. (USPN 6,619,783).

With respect to claims 1 and 2, Kanaya et al discloses a maintenance apparatus and a maintenance method for an ink jet head comprising:

- Controlling the pressure in the supply path against the atmospheric pressure applied to a surface of the in to push the ink out of the orifice (Column 31: line 57-60, for flushing process, a pressure must be applied to flush the ink out) and then align the surface of the ink to the surface of the orifice plate (after ink is ejected out of the orifice, an meniscus is formed at the orifice, by forming a meniscus at the orifice, the surface of the meniscus which is ink is aligned to the surface of the orifice plate)

- Sucking ink near each orifice in a state where the ink surface is approximately aligned to the surface of the orifice plate (Column 31: line 60-67).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kanaya et al. (USPN 6,619,783) in view of Nozawa (USPN 5,128,690).

Kayana discloses an orifice plate is a protection member arranged to surround each orifice.

However, Kanaya fails to teach suction nozzle which moves in arrangement direction of the orifice along the orifice plate.

Nozawa teaches a suction nozzle which moves in arrangement direction of the orifice along the orifice plate (Column 5: line 39-52, figure 7: element 82) and because the suction nozzle is moved back and forth in the direction in which the orifices are arranged in an array, an air gap, it must contact or separate form the orifice plate which is a protection member by an air gap.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teaching of Kanaya having the orifice plate with Nozawa having a nozzle suction in order to keep open a predetermined number of nozzles.

Conclusion

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Ly T TRAN whose telephone number is 571-272-2155. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F (7:30am-5pm).
